NATIONAL CHARITY LEAGUE, INC. CONTINUES TO CREATE NEXT GENERATION LEADERS

Costa Mesa, CA (Oct. 17, 2022) – National Charity League, Inc. (NCL), has a unique program designed to empower members to succeed as confident, well-rounded contributors to society while making a positive impact in the communities they serve. They do this through their three programming pillars of philanthropy, leadership and culture. With a focus on leadership, NCL continues to create next generation leaders through their youngest members, Ticktockers.

The National Ticktocker Advisory Council is a forum to give Ticktockers (or members in grades 7-12) a voice in shaping the future of NCL programming. Council members interface with other Ticktockers from all grade levels, representing chapters nationwide to share ideas and work on projects facilitated by the NCL, Inc. Director of Programs.

“It’s such a pleasure working with these young ladies and seeing how much they flourish in this environment.” said Iris Swinea, NCL, Inc. Director of Programs “Their ideas and creative thinking allow us to innovate as an organization that continues to grow.”

Council members gain collaborative leadership skills working with chapter and national leaders through the development of a single project, based on the strategic initiatives of the organization. All projects are designed to enhance the overall NCL experience. This year’s Council will focus on grade level curriculum and development of a selection process for the new Inspire Innovation Ticktocker grant.
